

Mr. George Marvin Brown

October 4, 1945 - December 1, 2019

George Marvin Brown, age 74, passed away at his home in Ruskin this week. He fought the good fight. He has finished the course. He has kept the faith. Marvin is survived by his bride of 55 years, Linda; one daughter, Lisa Brown Fox (Raymond), one grandson, Matthew Brown Fox; two loving sisters, Frances Williamson and Jeanette Spinks along with many nephews and nieces; and friends all over the world. Marvin had a burning desire to farm, a passion to succeed, a willingness to take risks, and the vision to pursue innovative solutions to conserve and protect the farming industry. He grew, branded, and shipped Florida strawberries throughout the eastern U.S. and parts of Canada. Traveling the world doing his own research, Marvin was a pioneer in using drip irrigation, developed a hydroponic system to grow strawberry plants, and was instrumental in developing and patenting specialized equipment to form strawberry rows, which is still in use today. He also built comfortable, affordable housing for his workers. He was constantly in search of new methods to benefit all strawberry growers. Marvin worked with the University of Florida, North Carolina State University, and the University of California, along with many California growers and shippers. He was a strong supporter of the Florida Strawberry Growers' Association, Florida Gulf Coast Research and Education Center, North American Strawberry Growers' Association, Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, and Florida Farm Bureau. A funeral service will be held on Thursday, December 5, at 11:00 a.m., at Plant City church of Christ, 315 N. Wilder Rd., Plant City. Interment at Hopewell Memorial Gardens, Plant City. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Marvin's name to Florida College in Temple Terrace or to the Florida Strawberry Growers' Association. Expressions of condolence at HopewellFuneral.com

“ Marvin was a good farmer and a good neighbor to my farm. He used the latest technology and took care of his workers. The fields were always clean and well managed. My thoughts and prayers are with his family.

“ We have known Marvin for ages but as life would have it, we have not kept in close contact over the years. Marvin leaves this world for a much better home -- he has been a faithful child of God, and we can rest in that thought. Our love goes out to his family -- those left behind. Grief has a way of fraying nerves and breaking hearts; tears flow until they can flow no more, but God knows your pain and heartache. We pray that He will reach down and touch your hearts and minds and give you peace -- the peace that only He can give to you to soothe your soul. Marvin would tell you, if he could, cry for me today, but this was just His way; you must complete your life your way. We send our love.
