I am completely at a loss for words. I was blessed to be Alex's 5th grade teacher and remember him as a soft spoken, loveable, teddy bear. Alex was so sweet and such a friend to all he came in contact with. I have been blessed by him. Prayers go out to his family.

“ Alex was a friend of my son Korey. I work in the cafeteria of Wagner Elementary where Alex attended. He was always so sweet and polite. My son is handicapped and that didn't matter to Alex he was still his friend. Sending lots of prayers to the family. Alex will be missed.

“ Alex-
*I am heartbroken. There aren't any words to express what a wonderful person you were. I will miss having to get some words out of you at your clinic visits :) but most importantly will miss the countless hugs I was privileged enough to receive before you left each time. You fought a long and hard battle. Never ever giving up hope. Thats true strength. I find peace in the fact that I know you are no longer feeling pain or discomfort. The memories you have left behind will never fade. May your family find strength and peace in each other as they reflect on the beautiful memories. I love then too. May you fly high with angels in heaven! With lots of love-

“ You can smile because he lived
 You can shed tears that he is gone.

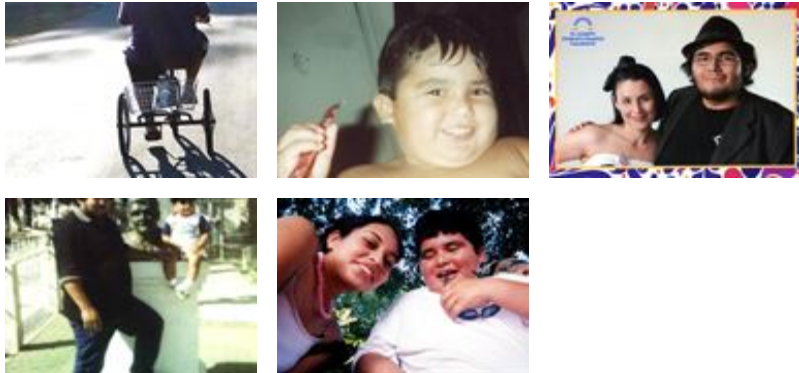

Your heart can be empty because you can't see him
 Or your heart can be full of the love that you shared

You can cherish his memory and let it live on
 You can cry, close your mind, and be empty inside
 Or you can do what he wanted. Smile, open your eyes
 And let love go on “ My dearest Alejandro, Oh! how bitter it is to be sitting here attempting to gather the correct words to say what I am feeling right now. This bitter-sweet taste of amazing, beautiful memories and the pain to know that they will not happen again.

Now, what am I going to do with myself? Who I am going to wake up, in the middle of the day just to help get in the shower? Who am I going to take for a walk? Who am I going to give a hard time because his glasses are too "filthy" to see? Whose DVD player am I going to pause just for the fun to annoy? Who is going to roll his eyes at me?

I so much treasure every hug you gave me. I could not say with words the satisfaction I felt every time Desa and I made you laugh. The long walks around the hospital. The short "trips" to the secret garden. The time you search around the adult world just to see me after my accident. Alejandro Rene Flores, you were an amazing young man. A vessel of God's true meaning on earth. Now you are an angel.

The children's hospital mourns your departure. We all love you so much. I can only find comfort in knowing that you are now at the right hand of The Father, and you are no longer in pain. There is no more illness. I keep locked in my heart every memory. Smile from heaven, dearest Alex....someday!

Your pain in the butt!
