“ Well its been three years today since God took you home. It seems like yesterday. They say things get easier in time. I dont believe that. Ive just learned how to mask it better. You made the biggest impact on me and Andrea. When you thought you were doing enough you were actually doing too much. You taught us how to love the right way. I just want to thank you again for being the most amazing mom that God put before us. Your legacy will live on thru your love. See you soon. I love you so much.

“ *I miss you beyond words mama. I wish i could've taken your place. Your love was unconditional and that is a very rare item these days. I will see you soon, and we will hug again. Like I told you a long time ago, if I ever lost you I would never get over it. Well I am holding true to that. Every day seems like the day it happened. I love you beyond words.

“ Mom, it has now been a year and two days. We still hurt and feel the loss of not having our sweet Mama by our sides. Know we never stop thinking about you and we catch ourselves saying things you said. We will continue to keep your memory alive.

Love,
Andrea, Troy, and our families.

“ So sorry for your loss. I wish I could have been there yesterday for the celebration of life, but just found out this morning. Carmen and I went with our dates to the 1964 Turkey Creek prom, and also to her 1966 Plant City prom. We had lost touch with each other until we became friends on Facebook not too long ago and exchanged remembrances. I found she had married into my family (cousins) and we promised to chat again, but sadly, we didn't. Rest in peace, Carmen.

“ Mom, we love you so much and miss you. Just to wake up everyday and realize we don't have you to talk to, visit, see, listen to your laugh, about your day or see your smile, is the worst pain we've had. We could not be going through this without you holding our hands. I promise to talk to you everyday and any time we make a decision we will always wonder "what would Mom do?". You were always our rock, and our glue that held the three of us together. Words can't express how much you mean and how much we need you. We love you.
