“ Melissa & Boys, Just wanted to let you know I'm Belinda Ashworth from New Hope FWB. You don't know me but, we were at the funeral and helped out with the food. My husband, Junior worked the sound that day. Just wanted to say how sorry I am to hear about your husband and about you loosing your baby. You all ahve really been through a rough road lately. I can't imagine. I lost my mom due to cancer 2yrs ago and it's still hard. Most of the time it gets better but, it just takes time in healing. My dad has had it rough. I can't Imagine loosing my spouse. I do know the separation from them is just so overwhelming. I pray that God comforts you through these tough days ahead. I don't understand everything that happens in life. I don't think none of us do but, I just have to hold onto God's Promises. Good really does come out of the bad even though we can't see it right now. God shows us in his timing. We all Love you all from New Hope and you all are in our prayers. You will also find that there may be a day that you have to share your situation with someone else. God is faithful, and he's been walking with you every step of the way but, he just needs to know that you want him in your life and in your boys lives.##imported-begin##Belinda Ashworth##imported-end##

“ Chris will be sadly missed by the receiving crew at Costco where he dropped off and picked up our packages every day. Missed, yes, but fondly remembered. Chris was so pleasant to talk with and he always talked of his family. I admired him for how much he liked being involved with his kids, when he wasn't working those long hours moving packages around. Our sincerest sympathy goes to his family.##imported-begin##cathie mitchell##imported-end##

“ Chris, you were my firstborn grandson. I remember when you were little I would play with you every day before I went to work. I always hoped you would grow up to be a good man, and you definitely did. I remember how you would run up the street when I came home from working saying papa, papa. I love you son, and dont worry we will help with the boys anyway we can, and with Christa. I love you Chris. Love, Papa.##imported-begin##Papa##imported-end##

“ I wish the whole world could know what a wonderful person was lost in my nephew Chris. Chris was a very kind hearted individual, who would never have an unkind word to say about anyone. Our family was very privileged to have him in it. I know when grandma saw Chris she said welcome sug. I just hope everyone remembers what a good person Chris was. Anyone who was privileged enough to meet Chris will know what I mean. We love you Chris and we will see you again someday. God Bless.##imported-begin##Richard Dixon##imported-end##

“ I love you and will always miss you, you are my best friend and soulmate, I wanted so many more years with you but I thank God he allowed you to be in my life for the time that we had. Twelve years is not long enough but you are so special I guess that is why time had to be so short. I am so thankful you gave me two wonderful sons and a little girl that will be here soon, you were such a great dad to our boys I know they are going to be great big brothers. I miss you so much and my heart will never be the same, but one of the things that is keeping me strong is the love that we had for each other and how great it is. I know you are still with me and will always be, I will always see you around me because I see you in our children, our family and our friends that have been here to support me and our boys. I hear you through them (family/friends) and feel you when they hug us. Thank you so much for all the good days. I know I will see you soon....I LOVE YA BABA!!!!!(I hear you)##imported-begin##Missy Dixon##imported-end##
