“ I was saddened to read of Christopher's passing and sad that I missed attending the memorial service because I was unaware of his death. I am grateful for the People of Plant City interview we had together and for the chance to meet his two daughters, Neveah and Trinity. I remember his zest for life, despite his struggles, and his strong faith in God, which helps us to know he is with Jesus now. I will be praying for the family.

“ I remember after every happened before they moved up North. Legacy doctoring and applying the bandages, how it hurt the little man. But I've always felt Chris's strengths came from Charles, Legay, and Jessica doing Everything to give him unending love and showing him how to have strength through God's love, healing and the grace to live his life to the fullest. My condolences to the Family with love and prayers.

“ So much to say about Chris. He was such a kind and gentle soul. Very independent, and loved his girl's with all of his heart. I will miss him and his beautiful smile. I know the pain he has had all of his life is no more. He is resting in Jesus now. We will meet again. Love you Chris.

“ Rest in peace, my dear friend and former student , Christopher. You were a gift to our 5th grade classroom when you moved to East Bridgewater. You taught us so much about courage, acceptance, and friendship. I cherish the memories and loved hearing from you over the years. Sending deepest sympathy to your beautiful girls, your strong Mom and sister and brother , and all those that love you . ❤️🙏 From your favorite 5th grade teacher,

“ There was that time we went hiking up the small mountain in town. It was the middle of January and you didn't think you could make it. With a little encouragement, I watched you scramble up the icy trail on all fours in just a T-shirt, totally soaked in sweat. You always ran hot because of your thick skin.

Though your knees couldn't bend and had more than a third of your limbs missing, your digits all but gone, you made it to the top somehow. You always did.

“ Big bro can't believe you are gone... So many memories, some good, some bad, some hilarious, some sad. I always looked up to you when I was younger. I always thought you were so strong with everything you went through. I knew if I had a tech question, just ask Chris. Man, we went through SO much, and even though we did not speak to each other for a few years, I still loved you... I mean, you were my Big bro even though I was bigger... LOL. The times of the LEGO shorts when we were younger... " Put a band-aid on it before you bleed to death," and Louie fell off the chair laughing so hard. The times when you used to scare the crap out of me with aliens were going to come and take me away at night, and no one would find me. All the video games you showed me and the music... Holy moly, the Music we spent hours upon hours listening to music. The time when your car died on the highway when we were going to the mall, and you left me to go find help, and I ended up driving it to the side of the road. The time when we got locked out of the house, and I smashed the window to get us in. I could keep going. I know I won't be there for your funeral, but I know that one day ALL of us will be together and there will be NOTHING between any of us. Rock on in Heaven (what a concert that must be), DUDE. Give Daddy and Mugsy a big hug from me
