“ As papa's youngest granddaughter, that was still living with him in his final days, were really tough. I remember spending time with papa every day, if it was early in the morning, afterschool or late at night. Before he was diagnosed of having Demitria, I remember having the best memories with papa, when he used to take me to the park, biked me to school, took me to watch the fireworks, even tried to play games with me even if he could not see. one of my favorite memories were when the holiday season was coming and he would ask me if I wanted to watch Christmas movies and we would sit there and watch the Christmas movie and eat his snacks in his snack drawer, he would always call me his little brat. so, I'm not going to say goodbye papa, because I know my papa is in heaven, and I will see you later.

I Love You, Papa (my big brat)

“ I spent a lot of time with my grandparents growing up. Many cross-country road trips, countless weekend stays, and the years they took me in while I was in high school - I have many memories. Papa was a creature of habit, had his favorite topics of conversation, and was always good to me. In his final days, I got to visit and say goodbye. He remembered who I was and I was even able to get some laughs out of him by talking about the pains of driving through Georgia. I will hold all of our time together close to my heart, forever.

I love you, Papa.

Doug was a very special person. Even though he was basically blind. When I would speak to him and he recognized me. He would have a great smile and his eyes seemed to sparkle. I know he is in heaven and looking at the Lord with clear eyes and the biggest smile.
