“ I knew "Jimmy" through his younger brother Frank. I met Jimmy about 1958. He was cutting a 1949-1950 2dr sedan down into a pickup truck and doing the welding with a coat hanger and jumper cables off of the car's 6 volt battery. If you tried that today you'd probably blow the alternator or the ECM. Jimmy was a fun guy who never took life too seriously. Having a good time was more important to him.
