“ My mother-in-law always called herself a tough old bird (being her maiden name was Crow) which she ended up having to be , but always with beauty , style and grace .She grew up on a farm with with her parents , sister and brother, which gave her a good work ethic .During her school years she always strived to make the best grades and would tell the story about her high school years competition with Mary Jean and how she had got one point ahead of her before graduation and my mother became Salutarian instead of Valvictoran (I would always say back to her but you were the prettiest). It was that drive that continued to help her throughout her lifetime. She started working for Chrysler Corporation out of high school , married Clyde's dad and would eventually be the working spouse while his dad graduated from Stetson University with a degree in Divinity and she was a admired pastors wife for over 20 years while still working and having Clyde and his two brothers (definitely ahead of her time) But sadly when Clyde was 13 that life changed for her and she became a divorced woman , not of her choice , but she continued to survive and work for Chrysler in Jacksonville , she still had the two younger brothers to raise on her own . With gods grace and prayers from her former church family and her parents and her mother in law , she continued to be a survivor and eventually successful in all she did . She was admired by so many for her faith and drive .

What a great tribute Mary as you wrote about Clyde's Mother! Please tell Clyde we are so sorry to hear about his Mother's passing and know what a faithful son he was to her. We wanted to come to the Funeral but have been taking care of My Mama who is 90 now and circumstances with so much going on the last year. Praying for all of you and hugs. Will talk to you all soon. Love you.....Rick, Susan-"Lynn", Joshua, Johnathan and Sarah Lewis and Families.....

“ I remember going to visit Craig in Jacksonville when we were in our early 20's and Evelyn was outside in the heat pulling up a plant but she had on lovely blue dress pants a nice blouse and full makeup. I was shocked. She looked amazing every time I ever saw her.
