“ Merry Christmas Mama, Yesterday I was doing my Christmas baking and listening to Christmas music. Every time I took a break and sat in my chair I would look at the Christmas tree and think back to when I was a little girl and all the wonderful Christmases we had. They are such good memories of you and dad. Now all my kids are grown and have families of their own and I know how it feels to have time slip away so fast. I do love and miss you so. 🌲

Merry Christmas,
Love you, Terri

“ Well Mama, another year has gone by. You were on my mind a lot on Mother's Day, and I miss you so. I'm sitting here drinking coffee, and wanted to wish you a Happy Birthday today. 🎂 I wish you were here so I could say that to you in person. I really do miss you, and the funny things you used to do like talk to the lizards 🦎 and squirrels 🐿️. You'd made me laugh. I wish we could sit and talk like we used to, and I know some day we will do that again. I love and miss you Mama, and will see you again.

Will always love you ❤️, Terri

“ Hi Mama, I know yesterday was the anniversary of your death, but I had a hard time with words for you yesterday. It was not a good day for me and you were on my mind constantly. I do miss you so much and with tomorrow being Easter it makes it even harder. I thought my life would be so different and you and daddy would still be with me but things don't always turn out the way you think they will. I know we will be together again, but sometimes I need you now. I love and miss you Mama and I will talk with you again soon. 💔

“ Mom, it's been six years since God called you home. You were gentle and kind, and taught me how to love unconditionally, and how to be my very best in all I do. You were more than just my mother, you were my best friend, and I miss you so much. I still struggle with you and daddy being gone every day. Time DOESN'T heal. I wish I could have been there more, hugged you more and told you how much I loved you more, but life got in the way, and for that I feel very guilty. I still can't say goodbye because I can't take the pain, so I will just say I love you Mom and I will see you again.
