“ My sweet Rita. It's the time of year that reminds us how painful a memory can be. You were the sweetest person inside and out. Even if tomorrow hurts because it reminds us we lost you, it's also a day of joy. The joy that we get to talk of all the memories we each shared with you. The day we can reminisce on how strong and tough and beautiful you are. We use that joy to mask the hurt and make it tolerable. I pray I can be half the woman you are. I pray I always make you proud and that you never forget just how much i love you and need. I miss you sooo much grandma. It doesn't get easier. But I live for you. Give my pop and aunt til and aunt aggy and gg ruby lots of love for me. I love you and miss you so much grandma. Until we meet again,
Love always, your broken hearted granddaughter
