“ I share a memory of me and Heather. How about I remember the time when I bought her an engagement ring and ask her to marry me. And she said yes and we were going to but you know what happened. Oh what about the time 20 years ago when we were together, and we broke up and got back together. The thing I'm the most mad about is that I should be in this memorial cuz I was the most important thing in her life.
