“ Was glad to have known Jay for about the past decade, and run into him on occasion at church and when out and about. Always a bucket of cheer and good word every time we crossed paths. Sorry for your loss.

“ I'm devastated to hear the news of Jay's passing. He was such a positive person. We worked together for many years on both a common employer and side projects and he was always a joy to be around. I really miss those days of going out to lunch in the middle of the work day and chatting it up with him, Scott and Christine. So many great memories. He even came to my wedding and it was 2 hours away from his home. My condolences to his family. The world may have lost a gem, but everyone he touched shines just a little brighter because of him.

“ I just heard the news today and I am devastated with emotions. I met Jay many times at different functions over the years and I can quickly say that he was one of the kindest, most sincere and magnetic people I've ever met. I connected with him immediately and the beautiful love that Jay and Penny had for one another was enviable. They truly lived the fairy tale together. I was honored to have Jay and Penny at two of my birthday parties and their presence and good will brightened the atmosphere beyond compare. I am aware that Jay was a devout Christian and he is with our Father now awaiting our arrival one day. God bless all of the family, loved ones, dear friends and acquaintances. Most of all (with a truly heavy and saddened heart) God bless our dear Jay. With love from Gary W. Nolan, Irina, Momma Rita, Meghan, Branden and Luna.
