“ Hello my friend, this is the last place I want to be talking to you. It was a time we were absolutely inseparable, I'm finding it hard to find words right now. How do you tell someone who used to be your best friend goodbye? This is so unfair. My heart is breaking just writing this, I will never forget your beautiful spirit and our friendship I am beyond in shock. I don't even know what happened. I just want you to know that I love you and I will forever hold you in my heart. I can't wrap my head around this. I hope you're at peace finally that's all you ever deserved. I'm so sorry to your family. I love you, Angie

“ There are 3 things that always stand out in my mind about Nanette. The first is, obviously, her stunning red hair. The second is that she always, always was immaculately put together with her clothes, makeup, hair and accessories. The third and most important, is that she deeply loved and cared for her brother, Bub, as she called him. He always came first. She was so proud and protective of him. What was even more astounding of their relationship, is that he loved her just as much.

She was the little red head of the group of grandkids who was soft-spoken, kind and looking out for her brother.

She will be so sorely missed. A daddy's girl who will live on in his heart. A beautiful woman who certainly stood out in a crowd. A mama who loved her son unconditionally.

One day, we will know and understand, when we, once again, see that blazing red hair. Until then, Nanny, we will hold you in our hearts and our memories. We will love you always. Aunt Liz/Sissy industry or Medi-Spa industry...during this time I have had the pleasure of sharing my experiences/ knowledge/wisdom & tricks of the trade with a select special few...some of them 20 years younger than me but I saw something in each of you and you've all done great things,impressive things as when we make it through this...and we will I want each of you to know I'm hear for you...if it's just a phone call for motivation,if you need help for one day,if you need help with laundry,flapping spa rooms,sweeping hair,answering phones...if you need anything I'm here for you...I do not want any of you to think you are alone...

Lammie for the next 6 months,I'm very proud of him and want him to travel,live life & have fun but of course I will miss him...fortunately he trust me to take care of his fur-child Amy while he's gone,she is a awesome Grand-Dog. I was finally able to recorde her playing hide and seek with me.

“ I will miss chatting with you, my beautiful cousin. I wish we had chatted more. I wish I had reached out more. I sure do love you and I'll always be grateful for the relationship that we did build no matter how long it had been since we'd last seen each other. I don't think anyone, other than you, I've ever had as much in common with. I wish so badly I'd made the time to check in on you. I'll miss you. Love you so much.
