“ Mom,
Its so hard to write this I miss you so much. I miss our morning coffee talks. I miss hearing your voice. I miss our finally Friday meme cause i knew Saturday we would spend time together. I will forever miss you and love you. You were not only my mom you were my best friend. Life is not the same without. My heart breaks everyday. I wish we got to make more memories together but I will forever cherish the ones we made. I love you mom and I hope you watching over us.

“ Hey girl.....it's taken me 21 days to finally post something on here. My heart hurts. I know you knew I was there and trying to help you, I had help on the way. You called me by name and told me not to dial 911.....I told you that "you can be mad later, I'm calling". I've replayed that whole day in my head a million times. I'm so thankful I actually came to the office that morning first rather than going to my appt. I'm sorry that I couldn't save you the third time....my heart will always have a spot that is missing for you. We talk about you every day here at work. We know you've been here leaving us little reminders of things. Our connection was a friendship from day one and I'm so thankful for the time we had. I prayed for my Daddy to find you up there and give you squishes from me and to show you the ropes. You'll forever be in my heart my friend.....I love you.....

“ Aunt Valerie,

We lost you. But we got to love you. We got to be loved by you. And even in our grief, we will forever be grateful for that.

I love you- Shannon

“ Dear Valerie,

I remember like it was yesterday we were young and the best of pals who faced a lot of bad times but most of all we had the best times together. We both experienced our milestones very near one another which made them even more special. We both got married, had children and lived our lives side by side. The time you lived in Delaware was very precious to me and I'll never forget that. When you decided to join Mary in Florida, it made me sad but I understood you need to make you're own life with your Husband and children.

Even though you moved away we both stayed very close and kept in touch and shared our lives over the phone. I'll miss you answering the phone with "Hey, girl!", and having our long conversations about what is happening in our lives.

My heart breaks even now writing this tribute, but I find solace in believing one day we will see each other again.

*Love you Sis,
Your Susie*

“ Valerie,
You were a great sister and I loved growing up together. You were always there when I needed you the most. I cherish and hold dearest the times we've talked and laughed during our little coffee breaks. I wished we could have been closer towards the end and I'm really sorry I didn't make more of an effort. I will always love you and I'm going to miss you so much.
Love your sister, Beth
