“ If you look up the words tough, loving and persistent in Websters Dictionary... it will reference Bill Carter. Bill and the entire Carter family were family to the Fabels. My father referred to Bill as his best friend. We kids referred to him as Mr Carter and as we grew older.... He asked us to call him Bill as we were grown now. He was an intricate part of my childhood by sharing his wisdom but also letting me know when i was being a dumb a%! . I would call ever so often because of covid not letting us visit face to face, he would start off saying... well son, i miss seeing ya.. then we would talk about an injury or two he had recently and listen to him tell me he was "fine"... but we always got on the subject of us being kids and he and my father loved us all so much... even though we were pains in the backside..... Rest now and know you were loved by so many! Especially me....
